The Institute encourages faculty members of the institute to take-up/speed up COVID-19 related research and projects. Several project proposals have already been undertaken and one project is supported by SERB, Government of India. Several other projects are ongoing and submitted for external funding. Student startups would also be involved in ongoing research activities.

Faculty members have proposed various projects on COVID-19 related issues. Institute is also planning to submit a network project including other institutes on development of possible drugs for COVID-19. Institute will encourage faculty members and students to initiate projects related to post COVID-19 challenges at institute level.

IIT (BHU) Varanasi is working on a bottom-up approach by making sanitizer and giving training to police personals and city administration regarding sanitization. Further the institute has initiated projects on detection, safety and mitigation of coronavirus. The R&D efforts on COVID-19 are coordinated by Dean R&D.

Output of research

1. Re-purpose approved drugs from DrugBank database for treating COVID-19
2. Low cost sanitizer is developed and prepared in large quantity.
3. Full body sanitizer device
4. Low cost mask materials developed and used for fabrication of masks.
5. Anti-viral mask using facile technique is developed.

The Institute encourages faculty members of the institute to take-up/speed up COVID-19 related research and projects. Several project proposals have already been undertaken and one project is supported by SERB, Government of India. Several other projects are ongoing and submitted for external funding. Student startups would also be involved in ongoing research activities.

Faculty members have proposed various projects on COVID-19 related issues. Institute is also planning to submit a network project including other institutes on development of possible drugs for COVID-19. Institute will encourage faculty members and students to initiate projects related to post COVID-19 challenges at institute level.

IIT (BHU) Varanasi is working on a bottom-up approach by making sanitizer and giving training to police personals and city administration regarding sanitization. Further the institute has initiated projects on detection, safety and mitigation of coronavirus. The R&D efforts on COVID-19 are coordinated by Dean R&D.

Output of research

1. Re-purpose approved drugs from DrugBank database for treating COVID-19
2. Low cost sanitizer is developed and prepared in large quantity.
3. Full body sanitizer device
4. Low cost mask materials developed and used for fabrication of masks.
5. Anti-viral mask using facile technique is developed.

Dear Sir,

This has reference to the trailing mail on the subject cited above. In this connection, I am to provide you the point-wise reply as under:

(a) whether there are enough courses, educational degrees and opportunities to promote quality research and development in the Drone sector, if so, the details thereof and if not, the reasons therefor;

To promote drone in quality research and development, various steps have been taken by the institute, for the active involvement of the students, and faculties in the research related to drones and their various application.

- Recently, the Government of India organized "The drone festival - Bharat Drone Mahotsav" on 27/05/2022 in New Delhi. The festival demonstrated various types of drones ranging from small, medium, and large. Their possible applications have also been displayed. To promote research on drone technologies, 4 faculties were nominated from the Institute for the drone festival. Afterward, the department of higher education Govt. of India sought suggestions on the use of drone technology. Thereby, IIT(BHU) is discussing with various companies on the uses of drone technology in various digital initiatives and developing expertise for the same.
- There is one dedicated center that will be established in the Institute: Center for development of Drone related technologies (CDRT), which will be consisting of Qdrones and Qbots, dedicated for the development of drones and robots with intended movement and autonomous capabilities, for the development and implementation of various algorithms, for autonomous movement of robots such as obstacle avoidance, trajectory planning, motion control, consensus behavior etc.
- At IIT BHU, Aeromodelling Club was started with a vision to promote avionics development. This club is fully dedicated to avionics-related activities from last three decades. One wing is fully focussed on drone designing and construction. Control, mapping, and obstacle avoidance problems have been observed by the Robotics Club of the Institute. Robotics Club has been involved in the above mentioned domain from last few years. Each year, more than 50 students actively enrol and work in these clubs.

Listing the courses running in the Institute, there are multiple courses that are being framed and running to support the development of the drone sector.

- EE 561: Modern Control Engineering: It is a UG level open elective course where one unit is dedicated for mathematical modeling of drones and developing classical control for various drone applications.
- EE 565: Nonlinear Control Systems: It is a PG level institute open elective course, where one unit is dedicated for stability analysis considering a real mathematical model of a drone considering all the nonlinearities. Along with the analysis, the synthesis of control is also discussed in detail to get a comprehensive understanding of the subject.
- EE 562: Robust Control: It is a PG level institute open elective course where one unit focuses on the design and development of robust controllers for drone applications.

- EE 568: Sliding Mode Control: It is a PG level institute open elective course where a unit is dedicated for the controller design in the presence of uncertainties/ disturbances, for the drones.
- CSO303: Ubiquitous Computing: This course is open to all students of the institute. It covers various techniques and applications of smart sensing using moving vehicles such as drones and underwater vehicles. It especially focuses on the use of smart sensing in the field of agriculture, smart city, and solving the challenging issues of disabled people.
- CSE472: Distributed Computing: It runs in the departments for undergraduate and postgraduate level students. The course covers the algorithms and protocols for solving moving vehicle problems. It also covers how to solve a complex task such as a large-size machine learning model in low-processing devices.
